Kelsea Whittemore is a National Mathematics Consultant with Big Ideas Learning. She conducts presentations and trainings for, and consults with, schools in northeastern United States to support their mathematics success. She has widespread experience supporting K-12 teachers, schools, and districts with their mathematics programs as an Implementation Manager for a tutoring company based in Massachusetts. Kelsea has taught middle and high school math in Dorchester, Boston, to a diverse group of high-need students, writing much of the curriculum herself. Kelsea has a deep understanding of math curriculum from Kindergarten through college and extensive experience supporting teachers in creating an enriching math environment.

She is also the Curriculum Director for the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards conference held every year in central MA where she creates and leads multifaceted workshops on teamwork, acceptance, self-discovery, and a growth mindset for high school budding leaders and activists. Kelsea holds a Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics, a Bachelor of Science in Education, and a Master of Education in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Connecticut.
